Vladislav Jašo, Total Corbion PLA

Vladislav Jašo, currently works as application specialist at Total Corbion PLA, based in Gorinchem, the Netherlands. He has a PhD in Technology Engineering from the University of Novi Sad, Republic of Serbia. From 2009 to 2012, he worked as research associate and teaching assistant at the Department of Polymer Materials Engineering, at the same university. After that, between 2013-2015 he worked as research associate at the Kansas Polymer Research Center in Pittsburg, Kansas, on various projects related to industrial application of bio-based polymers. In 2016 he joined first Corbion, and then in 2017 Total Corbion PLA, where he is leading various research and development projects related to PLA compounding, injection moulding and film applications.